

Because TRAUMA MATTERS

A Free Information Session about Trauma-Informed Practices in Services for Substance-Involved Women

LONDON – October 29, 2013

WHY ATTEND?

Trauma is widespread among substance-involved women and has profound and long-lasting impacts. This free information session will help to build knowledge of trauma-informed practices, introduce participants to the comprehensive guidelines published in Trauma Matters, and help build an understanding of how they can be used to improve services for women.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

- Service providers who work with substance-involved women, including those from substance use services, public health and other health care services, child welfare, the criminal justice system, social services, shelters and housing, and other allied sector services.
- System planners, policy developers, funders, evaluators, educators and academic institutions.

HOW TO REGISTER:

Space is limited! Please register to join either in person or via webinar by clicking here:

<http://trauma-matters-london.eventbrite.com/>

Date/Time: October 29, 2013 from 1:00–4:00pm (EST)

Address: Regional Mental Health Care London - Wickware Auditorium, 850 Highbury Avenue, London

Presenters: Debbie Bang, Womankind Addiction Service, St. Joseph's Healthcare & Pam Hill, Addiction Services of Thames Valley

If you are not available to attend the London session on October 29th, you can join additional sessions via webinar taking place on:

- October 22, October 23, October 24, December 9, 2013

To register by phone, contact Angela Yip, Knowledge Broker, EENet at 416-535-8501 x 36046

Trauma Matters provides guidelines for trauma-informed practices.

Access them online at www.jeantweed.com and www.eenet.ca

The Ontario DTFP project to develop guidelines for trauma-informed practices is funded by Health Canada's Drug Treatment Funding Program (DTFP). Nancy Bradley is the Project Lead and Executive Director of the Jean Tweed Centre, and Janine Gates is the Project Consultant. The project has been supported by an Advisory Committee of service providers and experts from across Ontario, and by the voices of women who have lived experience. Production of this event has been made possible through a financial contribution from Health Canada. The views expressed herein do not necessarily represent the views of Health Canada.